

A charcoal drawing of a human face, rendered in a sketchy, expressive style. The drawing is done on a light-colored, textured paper. The face is shown in a three-quarter view, looking slightly to the right. The shading is done with various charcoal techniques, including fine lines and cross-hatching, particularly around the eyes and nose. The overall tone is somber and contemplative.

Don Lisy

Charcoal drawings | 2011 - 2012

Lonesome sound

Charcoal on Paper | H 15" x W 22" | 06.19.2011 | $500.00

Should decide

Charcoal on Paper | H 15" x W 22" | 07.20.2011 | $500.00

Get over this

Charcoal on Paper | H 19" x W 13" | 07.30.2011 | $500.00

As the minutes stall

Charcoal on Paper | H 9" x W 19" | 08.03.2011 | $500.00

It's own disease

Charcoal on Paper | H 37" x W 30" | 01.24.2012 | $500.00

Hunt to plunder

Charcoal on Paper | H 15" x W 14" | 02.11.2012 | $500.00

Assassin snatching

Charcoal on Paper | H 14" x W 15" | 02.18.2012 | $500.00

Shout from above

Charcoal on Paper | H 8" x W 30" | 02.25.2012 | $500.00

Spoke up now

Charcoal on Paper | H 15" x W 22" | 03.10.2012 | $500.00

World's disgrace

Charcoal on Paper | H 11" x W 30" | 03.10.2012 | $500.00

Romanced in fascination

Charcoal on Paper | H 11" x W 30" | 03.11.2012 | $500.00